Knowledge about ageing and later life can be enhanced and improved through a multidisciplinary forum for researchers and other individuals interested in the situations of older people and in how society of gerontology is dedicated to promoting the individual autonomy of older persons and advancing their well being in society. Since its inception in 1972, the British Society of Gerontology has been a non-profit research, training, and social policy organization designed to prepare experts in advanced nursing practice.

The aging population is expected to double over the next 20 years, so the need for adult gerontology primary care nurse practitioners will also expand to handle health promotion and the disease management needs of this geriatric population. The adult gerontology primary care nurse practitioner board certification examination is a competency-based entry-level examination that provides a valid and reliable assessment of the clinical knowledge and skills of the nurse practitioner.

Nurse practitioner graduate degree focusing on adult and gerontologic primary care caring for adults and the elderly has become an important aspect of today's society. Health care of the acutely ill and the critically or chronically ill adult patient in a wide range of settings requires specialized expertise. Students choosing the adult gerontology acute care nurse practitioner program are prepared to provide and manage health care of the acutely ill and the critically or chronically ill adult patient in a wide range of settings.

The university of Tennessee School of Nursing at Houston offers a master of science in nursing and post master's acute care nursing degree. The acute care nursing clinical concentration prepares graduates to manage the care of adult patients with complex health deviations in tertiary settings. The Adult Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner (AGACNP) Board Certification Exam is an entry-level exam that provides an evaluation of the candidate's clinical knowledge and skills of primary care of the adult and geriatric patients. The Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) Adult Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner (AGACNP) Board Certification Exam is a competency-based entry-level examination that provides a valid and reliable assessment of the clinical knowledge and skills of the nurse practitioner.

The Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) School of Nursing at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga offers a joint DNP program with Tennessee Tech. The DNP program is a doctoral degree focused on practice and designed to prepare experts in advanced nursing practice. The Center for Social Gerontology (TCSG) is the center for social gerontology in the United States since its inception in 1972. The TCSG has been a non-profit research training and social policy organization dedicated to promoting the individual autonomy of older persons and advancing their well-being in society.

Enriching our understanding of later life, the British Society of Gerontology provides a multidisciplinary forum for researchers and other individuals interested in the situations of older people and in how knowledge about ageing and later life can be enhanced and improved.
Gerontologists are health care professionals who specialize in working with elderly patients. They provide their services to people in nursing homes, senior citizen centers, and other similar facilities. Canadian Association on Gerontology - membership is a dynamic mix of people interested in the field of gerontology including health care professionals, researchers, academics, administrators, government representatives, students, and seniors. Master of Science in Human Development and Family Science - click here for the tentative course rotation after completing the gerontology program. The student will be able to demonstrate a basic understanding of specific issues regarding adult development, health, and nutrition. Public policy, the environment, and research as related to older adults and their families.

North Shore Community College - welcome to professional education at NSCC. Welcome to professional education where lifelong learning never ends. Enhance your skills, change careers, empower employees, earn a certification or certificate, or explore new personal interests.